

Don't miss the "gob smacking, jaw dropping, heart stopping" webinar. Then, go to our website and take action!

Dear <<First Name>>,

Last week, webinar speakers Mike Parker Pearson and Phil Goodwin brilliantly exposed a "catalogue of this government's shame" and explained why the road scheme would be such a disaster in archaeological terms "threatening the reputation of this country" and in terms of this unique project's shockingly poor value, or as Tom Holland put it "a gob smacking, jaw dropping, heart stopping demonstration why this scheme is a disgrace."

If you missed the webinar here it is. If you attended, please watch the action replay then, take action!

Participants came from at least 13 different countries. So, if English is not your first language, please switch the automatic text to your language. It's not perfect but it's pretty good.

Tom said in his summing up, we should all be rallying around for the good of now and for the good of future generations. "A landscape that you measure in millennia" is being "sacrificed for very very short term political needs."

We look forward to seeing copy replies from MPs, ambassadors, cultural attachés, SNPs, Wiltshire Councillors, the Prime Minister, and Oliver Dowden, the Culture Secretary who appears to care more about football than heritage.

Thank you for watching, thank you for your support, thank you for any future help that you may give. .

With best wishes,

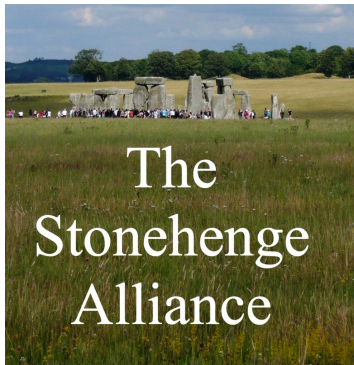

John Adams OBE
Acting Chair

Don't let Government get away with desecrating our unique Stonehenge World Heritage Site.

It is not acceptable to plough through Stonehenge World Heritage Site regardless of the Examiners' recommendation that the Transport Secretary should withhold consent, regardless of UNESCO's objections, and regardless of public opinion from around the world.
